MATERNL

We help every mother
find care, support and resources
with dignity and self-respect

BRIEF SUMMARY

Every woman — every pregnancy — deserves to have access to prenatal, maternity and newborn care. Prenatal care is very important to help mothers, their pregnancy and their newborn have the best outcome. Maternl helps find this care in 249 countries and in 193 languages, with a personal letter of introduction. It also shows groups and organizations that can help and support them-and more. Everything begins on the homepage.

Why Maternl is important

It is the goal and mission of Maternl to help improve global pregnancy outcomes by facilitating access to trusted healthcare support and resources. Maternl is created by an academic obstetrician who has cared for the physical and emotional health of mothers, babies and families for his entire career. Maternl is one of a kind. It uses AI as a helper within an ethical and altruistic framework, shaped by many years of experience and caring.

For a user, Maternl is here if they:

- do not know where to get care for their pregnancy or their new baby, or they cannot get it
- feel alone, left out or unsafe
- have been treated unfairly in your care because of their race
- do not understand what is happening in their pregnancy or with their baby, and they need a doctor, midwife or clinic who can explain it
- do not have someone to speak up for them
- have lost a baby through miscarriage, stillbirth or after birth, and you need support
- need to understand pregnancy terms or conditions

Our goal

Every woman and every family, everywhere, should be able to get healthcare — including pregnancy, maternity and newborn care. Maternl works to close the gaps that keep families from the care they need. It works in your language, in countries all over the world, and helps you find a center for care wherever you are.

Maternl does not give medical advice. In an emergency, call your local emergency number.

Maternl narrows the access-to-care gaps (disparity) for every woman, everywhere. Maternl is a one-of-kind pregnancy and newborn resource to help guide a user to find a prenatal, maternity and newborn care center in nearly every country and territory-in their own language with maps and directions. Maternl provides a personal letter of introduction to a prenatal, maternity or newborn / pediatric healthcare center, to empower the user with dignity and respect and advocacy.

Maternl reflects the founder's career-long profession as a physician, an obstetrician, committed to the physical and emotional health of women, children and families. It is an original, AI-guided resource strengthened and shaped by human experience and deep understanding. Available for families in 249 countries and in 193 languages

Its singular mission recognizes and offers the attention and empathies required when mothers and families:

CONFIDENTIAL

- are not aware of and cannot get the pregnancy and newborn health care they deserve
- are alienated, disenfranchised and vulnerable
- have been subject to racial bias and disparities in their care
- do not understand what is happening during their pregnancy or with their newborn
- do not have a healthcare advocate
- do not have the support when they have experienced the all too common tragedy of a loss of a child through miscarriage, stillbirth or neonatal deaths.

Maternl is a free, multilingual pregnancy companion for every woman and every family, anywhere in the world. It works as a website and as an app, on whatever device a family already has, and it offers a complete suite of knowledge, learning and guidance across every stage of pregnancy, pregnancy care, newborn care and support.

Maternl is different from other pregnancy apps. It is a unique, visionary and transformative AI-guided companion, shaped and strengthened by the experience, humanism, empathy and deep understanding of its founder and creator. Maternl is a trusted guide for pregnancy and more. It helps users find where to get care in nearly every country and territory — with a personal letter of introduction to the care center. Maternl strives to help users find the right care early and feel confident about their next steps — always private and free, with no identifiable data collected or stored.

MAternl guides the user to a prenatal, maternity or newborn care center wherever they may be.

MISSION, SCOPE AND PURPOSE

The goal and mission of Maternl is to reduce healthcare disparities by enabling universal access to trusted healthcare support and resources. Maternl addresses the universal need of all pregnant women and their families to have access to prenatal, maternity and postpartum care. We are concerned about the barriers to early prenatal care faced by vulnerable, disadvantaged and geographically isolated families. We hope these programs will empower users and help them feel more confident and dignified when seeking care — all to reduce the significantly higher rates of maternal mortality, prematurity, and neonatal and infant mortality among these populations worldwide.
